QUAKER CITY WELCOMES IKE: ADLAI IS BANKING ON SPLIT

NIXON AND SPARKMAN ON LONG TOURS

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, GOP vice presidential nominee, speaks in Hartford, Conn., today before a reception of women Republicans. He scheduled an afternoon news conference, to be followed by another speech before a special Republican convention tonight. He returns to Maine tomorrow.

Nixon said in Sanford, Me., yesterday that there are 10 uncovered cases of government corruption for every one the public knows about.

Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, heads for New Mexico on the second leg of his western tour, which he opened this week in Nixon's home town of Whittier, Calif. He has been sounding hard at the theme that Dwight D. Eisenhower is conducting a neo-fascist campaign.

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Vt.), a major target of the Democrats in the national election fight, opened his own campaign for re-election last night in suburban Milwaukee with a scathing blast at Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

McCarthy's major opponent in the Sept. 9 primary is Leonard Schmitt, an attorney. The incumbent senator said in his speech broadcast over 51 radio stations: "I need your votes next Tuesday—I need them badly."

In addition to attacking Stevenson, McCarthy blasted at communism in government, the State Department, and other favorite subjects.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who plans to stump his state for Eisenhower, said at a state fair farmer dinner at Syracuse that only a GOP victory would rid the government of "widespread corruption."

Springfield, Ill. (P)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's supporters tried today to drive a wedge between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in the Republican ranks.

They cited the defection of Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, as an asset in their effort to capture the vital Midwest in the presidential race.

McCormick has advised Republicans to ignore both presidential nominees and concentrate on electing selected GOP members of Congress in preparation for a third party presidential effort in 1956.

The Stevenson aide said he believes McCormick's views will affect many Republicans who supported Taft for the nomination, and still are angry that Eisenhower won in Chicago on the issue that Taft's backers had "stolen" delegates in Southern states.

The Stevenson camp apparently believes that McCormick's views won't affect many Democrats but will cut deeply into Republican ranks. The Democratic nominee's followers said they don't expect to harvest many Republican votes but they do hope that many GOP members will stay away from the polls in November.

In this connection, it was disclosed that representatives of the Illinois governor had made careful canvasses of the situation in Ohio and returned here with optimistic reports.

Ohio's Democratic Gov. Frank Lausche, a proved vote-getter, is running for re-election and is opposed by Republican Charles Taft, brother of the senator.

Although Sen. John Bricker has announced that Sen. Taft will make speeches for the ticket in the state, the senator did not support his brother for the gubernatorial nomination and there still is some doubt how far Robert Taft will go in urging Eisenhower's election.

Philadelphia (P)—Pennsylvania Republicans rolled out the plush carpet today for their favorite presidential candidate in a day-long celebration billed as the formal opening of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's election campaign.

The GOP nominee was due to arrive by train at 11:15 a. m. (EST).

Ahead of him lay an intensive minute-by-minute schedule of tours through the city, meetings with Republican groups and individuals and a major policy speech tonight before a crowd that party leaders were confident would overflow Convention's 15,000 seats.

Party officials estimated that upwards of a million persons would see the general during his visit. His arrival, and a triumphal motorcade down historic Chestnut St., were scheduled for the noon hour when office workers could be free and the trip was expected to take in several other nearby sections of the city.

Eisenhower's program listed, in addition to his Convention Hall speech, brief talks at Independence Hall, and before three Republican groups meeting at a downtown hotel.

A scheduled fall meeting of the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania had been shifted here to coincide with the nominee's visit.

Gov. John S. Fine, whose swing to Eisenhower at the GOP convention helped the nomination drive of the former NATO commander, and U. S. Sen. James H. Duff, one of the original Ike backers, headed the list of distinguished Pennsylvania Republicans on hand for the day's events.

Also present was U. S. Sen. Edward Martin and his three running mates on the Pennsylvania state ticket, all pledged to work with and for Eisenhower.

Throughout the city, preparations were complete for a campaign demonstration the like of which hasn't been seen here in many an election year.

Four special trains, from Washington, D. C., Wilmington, Del., and Harrisburg and Sunbury, Pa., were slated to bring crowds of Republican voters.

Chartered buses and special motorcades were planned from many nearby communities.

PROBERS SAY REDS CONTROL DPOWA UNION

Washington (P)—Senate investigators described a labor union today as "under the control of agents of the Kremlin" and urged the Justice Department to consider perjury action against its officers who signed non-Communist affidavits.

A tightening of the law to prevent Communists from holding union jobs or offices also was recommended by the Senate's internal security committee in a report on its investigation of the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers of America (DPOWA), an independent union.

The subcommittee made public sworn testimony in which the president of the union, Arthur Osmann of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a number of other top officials were identified as Communists.

The DPOWA, with some 65,000 members, was formed in October, 1950. When Osmann was asked if meetings leading to its organization took place in Communist party headquarters, he declined to answer.

The hearings showed that Osmann and others identified in the testimony as Communists had signed the non-Communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley Law to make the union eligible for certification as a bargaining agent by the National Labor Relations Board.

KIWANIANS SAY "THANKS" TO JOE: For years of untiring service in helping to promote projects to raise money for the Underprivileged Children's Fund, directors of the Kiwanis club voted Joe Gardner, left, an honorary membership. His membership and lapel button were presented him at the 30th anniversary banquet at the Marconi Outing club last evening. On the right is shown President Clifford Betts congratulating Gardner after he had made the presentation.

30th Anniversary of Kiwanis Here Is Observed With Dinner And Interesting Entertainment

The thirtieth anniversary of the organization of the Warren Kiwanis Club was observed in an auspicious manner last evening when a dinner was served at the Marconi Outing club to members of the club, guests from Kane, St. Marys, Youngsville, Jamestown and Buffalo, and their ladies numbering 138.

The program, in charge of Cliff Betts, president, was highlighted by the presentation of a number of deserved awards, along with other gifts of a humorous nature. On the more serious side, the "Warren Boy Choir," with Miss Adelaide Swanson at the piano and directing, assisted by "Jim" Valone, a member who is finishing his last year with the organization, sang several numbers to the great delight of the mixed crowd, and Governor Daniel L. Auchinbach, of Johnstown, delivered an inspiring address based on the 1952 project of Kiwanis International called "Ballots Battalion."

The program followed the serving of a delicious barbecued chicken dinner, Lewis doing the catering, assisted by women of the Marconi Club who had charge of the kitchen and dining room. Other items on the menu were corn on the cob, mashed potatoes, gravy, salad, rolls, olives, pickles, celery, ice cream, cake and coffee.

Seated at the speakers' table were President and Mrs. Betts; Past District treasurer, Sam Wagner and wife; Erie; Lieutenant Governor Francis Norman and wife; Erie; District Governor, Daniel L. Auchinbach and wife, Johnstown; Past Lieutenant Governor Sam Lucas, and wife, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gardner, North Warren; Lester Berglund, president of the Jamestown, N. Y., club, and wife; Neil Wahlberg, president of the Kane club, and Mrs. Wahlberg.

The meeting opened with Monroe Marshall singing America followed by all singing God Save the Queen, Marshall directing. The invocation was by the Rev. Arthur Colley, pastor of the First Methodist church. Group singing was enjoyed later, with Mr. Marshall in charge, and R. Pierson Eaton at the piano.

A new organization in the Kane club, the "Kazooks band," was introduced with Dan McCune as director, and they delighted with several popular numbers.

Dr. J. T. Valone was called upon to present the Warren Boy Choir, and he in turn, after outlining the cooperation the Kiwanis Club has provided this organization, introduced his son "Jim," a member of the choir since its organization, who spoke appreciatively of the interest of the club in the choir, and told of the various trips the boys have made and how much they were enjoyed. After the last number the young vocalist thanked the club on behalf of the choir and congratulated Kiwanians on the 30th anniversary observance, concluding by expressing the hope that "this little job will help to compensate for what your organization has done for us boys."

During the lighter part of the evening's program the legs of Governor Auchinbach were shackled by the president's committee, who jokingly advised him that the key had been mailed to his home "special delivery." Dr. John Urbatis, of the Warren State Hospital, was reminded of his birthday, and presented a grass hat, and Carl DeVittorio, pharmacist at the Medical Center, was decked out with a moustache and old-fashioned derby hat.

During the introductions guests at the speakers' table were presented along with the presidents and their wives of clubs in Kane, Jamestown, and other towns. Four members from the recently formed Youngsville club were introduced.

Lewis Striving For A Quick Agreement In Hard Coal Parley

Washington (P)—John L. Lewis was reported today striving for a quick hard coal agreement so he can concentrate on negotiations with the bigger and more far-flung soft coal industry.

Lewis has never publicly served demands on either the anthracite hard coal or bituminous soft coal mine owners. But he is reportedly aiming for a sizable boost in the hard coal welfare fund and more wages and share-the-work provisions for soft coal miners.

Talks between the anthracite operators and Lewis' United Mine Workers union took on a hopeful note. Thomas E. Kennedy, the UMW's vice president, told newsmen "some progress" was being made.

The talks, held privately in New York and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., moved here yesterday. The negotiations were scheduled to resume today at the union's headquarters.

'Miss Pennsylvania' Has Busy Schedule

Atlantic City, N. J. (P)—The Miss America contestant with the busiest morning schedule today was without a doubt Miss Pennsylvania.

Before the other 51 girls in the national beauty contest had to be stirring, she had a date with Convention Hall's gigantic organ. It was Miss Miriam May Smith's first chance to practice the huge instrument she is to play in talent competition Friday night.

Following this session, she was scheduled to join other contestants for a breakfast conference with the judges. This is when they will rate the bright-eyed, dark-haired McAlister beauty on personal merit.

Among the best-known of the 10 judges whom she was to meet were music critic Deems Taylor and Cornelia Otis Skinner, actress and author.

A general rehearsal for the pageant followed the judges' breakfast. It made a long morning for the Keystone State representative but she assured friends it wouldn't bother her at all.

Halt Is Called In Poison Bait Drive

Harrisburg (P)—The State Game Commission said today it has no immediate plans to renew its poison bait campaign against rabid foxes despite a green light from a court decision.

"Most of the cases now being reported are in extremely populated areas where it is not wise to use poisoned bait," said Thomas D. Frye, the commission's executive director.

Frye was acquitted Tuesday by the Bucks County Court on charges of unlawfully spreading poison in last spring's campaign against rabid foxes. Frye and Edwin W. Flexer of Quakertown, Bucks County game protector, were tried last June 5 before President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

The commission, working with the State Health and Agriculture Departments, conducted a campaign through some 16 counties in March and April, spreading the poisoned bait to cut down the number of rabies-infected foxes.

Rioting Spreading In Cities in India

Bombay, India (P)—Rioting and bloodshed swept Hyderabad City and spread today to Secunderabad in Hyderabad State, India's hotbed of Communist activity. The toll stood at three dead and many wounded in the second day of violence said to stem from Communist agitation against giving state jobs to non-Hyderabadis.

Police opened fire on unruly mobs a half dozen times in the past 24 hours. The mobs burned a police radio truck and a bus. Gangs roamed the streets forcing merchants to close their shops. Public transportation facilities were halted.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was clamped on more than a million residents of Hyderabad-half of the Moslems.

One rioter was killed and 15 wounded today when police fired on a mob of 10,000 in front of Osmania Hospital in Hyderabad City.

ANNIVERSARY SPEAKER—Above photo shows Governor Daniel L. Auchinbach, Johnstown, one of the best known Kiwanians in the state, as he was delivering the principal address at the anniversary dinner held last evening marking the 30th year of service to the community by the Warren Kiwanis Club.

PUBLISHER BETTER—McKeesport (P)—William D. McKeesport, 74, McKeesport Daily News publisher and former state senator under treatment at McKeesport Hospital for a serious heart ailment was reported in improved condition today by hospital authorities.

Chicago Parents Hope California Woman May Solve Baby Kidnaping 22 Years Ago

Chicago (P)—The parents of a baby kidnaped 22 years ago waited anxiously today to meet the California housewife reportedly identified as their long missing child.

Mrs. Mary Beck McClelland, 24, of San Pablo, Calif., arrived here last night to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moroney, parents of Mary Agnes Moroney, who was 2-years-old when she was kidnaped in Chicago in 1930.

Police still list the case as unsolved, the oldest unsolved case in the files of the Chicago Missing Persons Bureau.

Mrs. Moroney, 40, said last night she hoped her mother's instinct will tell her whether Mrs. McClelland really is her daughter. The Moroneys have seven other daughters and sons, four of whom live at home.

Police said the purported identification is based on alleged similarities in finger prints, blood type and teeth of Mrs. McClelland and members of the Moroney family.

The two newspapers called on scientists to determine whether

Mrs. McClelland really is the missing child grown to womanhood.

Last winter, Dr. E. W. Merrithew, a physician at Martinez, Calif., said he had arranged for the adoption of Mrs. McClelland in 1927 and that she definitely was not the kidnaped Moroney child. Dr. Merrithew declined, on ethical grounds, to name the child's parents.

Iris Anne Fitch of Washington, D. C., Miss District of Columbia, Gwen Harmon of Birmingham, Ala., Miss California, won all-important preliminary contests last night.

The 19-year-old capital queen scored in the opening talent prelude with her soprano rendition of "With a Song in My Heart."

Swimmer Who Failed to Paddle Across Lake Erie Wants to Try Channel Next

Erie (P)—A young ex-collegiate hour battle on wind-whipped Lake Erie.

He set out to cross the 45-miles of water from Port Royal, Canada, Monday morning. When he didn't show up at Erie in the expected 12 hours, his parents enlisted the aid of Coast Guard in a land-water-beach search. About 24 hours after he started, Sayre was rescued by the crew of a steamer eight miles from Erie.

Now he'll have to spend several more days in bed getting his strength back.

Sayre is glad he didn't follow the original plan and lash himself on the surfboard. It overturned several times.

Death Car Driver Is Believed To Be Niagara Suicide

Titusville Herald: Sidney Seth, whose auto took the life of a Titusville girl three and a half years ago, apparently has taken his own life in a spectacular manner.

The 57-year-old former Oil City man has been tentatively identified as the person who waded into the Niagara River above the falls Saturday and shot himself in the head with a .22 caliber rifle.

The body was recovered Tuesday night below the falls near the Maid of the Mist dock.

Relatives in Oil City were notified yesterday by Niagara Falls police to send someone there to make positive identification of the body.

Seth had pleaded guilty on Feb. 24, 1949, to the hit-run death of Sally White, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton White. The girl was struck the evening of Feb. 21 just west of the city line on Route 8 when she went to the store with her brother. Her body was thrown and dragged 100 feet.

The man thought to be Seth was observed as he waded into the water, police said. Jesse Kunes of North Tonawanda, a construction foreman, reported the matter to the police.

Kunes said he was standing on Willow Island when he saw a man go into the river and shoot himself with a rifle. The man dropped into the water and was swept over the American falls.

Police found a .22 rifle in the water at the spot indicated by Kunes. The weapon, they learned, had been purchased only a short time before by a Niagara Falls resident who gave the name of S. Seth. Police were unable to locate Seth at his home.

Seth, the object of an intensive three-state manhunt after he accident here, gave himself up to Franklin State Police after he said he learned he was wanted. Under questioning he admitted having his car radiator grill repaired the next day after the accident, and then confessed the crime.

He said he did not stop when he hit the girl "because I had beer on my breath and figured I had too many strikes against me."

Nevada, sixth largest state in the Union, has the smallest population.

School Enrollment Shows an Increase
Superintendent of Schools, Carl E. Whipple, made known today that 3262 pupils attended borough schools at opening sessions yesterday. This count is 151 more than the actual figure of 3111 taken on the same day in 1951.

The largest enrollments are in the high school, about 15 over Beaty Junior High School. Yesterday the high school reported an attendance of 876, Beaty, 860; East Street, 299; Home Street, 249; Lacy, 877, McClintock, 199; Seneca, 40; and South Street, 402.

Breaking down the number at the high school there were 284 sophomores, 314 juniors, and 278 seniors.

Supt. Whipple's estimated figure of this year's enrollment made in June was 3261, slightly over Wednesday's count which will undoubtedly increase. In 1951 he anticipated 3133 students and 3089 in 1950.

Increases were seen in Home, East and South because of the construction of the new Johnson School building. South Street received the burden of the transfers, but according to Miss Edith Berkman, principal at that school, the rearrangement went so smoothly the increase was hardly noticeable.

Ice Cream Social At Beaty Friday
The Warren School Music Boosters Club is reminding all school patrons and friends of the ice cream social and concert by the High School Band, to be held tomorrow evening on the lawn of Beaty Junior High School.

Hours for the social will be from five until nine o'clock, with the band program starting at 7:30. Mrs. Arthur Chapman, general chairman, has announced there will be a "take-out department" for those who wish to take their ice cream and cake home.

Those who can should bring blankets and sit on the lawn during the concert, since chairs will not be available for all. Tickets, at 25 cents each, may be had from members of the band, orchestra, or choral groups, or may be purchased at the social.

If weather is favorable, a dance will be held on the Beaty school court, with admission free to all purchasing tickets for the social.

The Boosters expect a large attendance for this always-enjoyable occasion, from which proceeds will be used as payment on the balance owed for band uniforms and choir robes, the entire cost of which is being paid by the Boosters.

Prizes totaling $375 were awarded this week to winners in the 52 annual health poster contest sponsored by the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania. In which several thousand school children from grades one to twelve throughout the state submitted posters.

He will be presented with her award at the state dinner of the Medical Society at its 102nd annual meeting in Philadelphia on September 29.

Another Allentown student, Elmer Slampyak, of the Harrisonorton Junior High School, won first prize of $70 in the 7 to 9 age group. Mary Gabany, of the Rinton Avenue School, North raddock, won first prize of $50 in the 4 to 6 grade group, and Jerlanika, a first grade pupil in the Ridesburg Public School, Philadelphia, won first prize in the 1 to 3 grade group.

Second prize winners were: William Bertollet, 10th grade, Penned Junior High School, Reading, 10; Marvinne Parker, 9th grade, Penn Treaty Junior High School, 15; Linda Leebow, 4th grade, Olfax Grade School, Pittsburgh, 25; and Karen Kadel, 2nd grade, Ranklin School, Lebanon, $15.

Judges included Horace Heilman, art instructor, Kutztown State Teachers College; Dr. Earl L. Coole, director, Reading Museum and Art Gallery; Mrs. Albert F. Doyle, Johnstown, president Women's Auxiliary to the Medical Society; Dr. Howard K. Petry, Harrisburg, past president of the Medical Society, and Mrs. J. Fredrick Dreyer, Allentown, president, Women's Auxiliary to the State Medical Society.

MILK PRODUCERS ASK
A ONE CENT INCREASE

Pittsburgh (P)—The Keystone Milk Producers Association asked the State Milk Control Commission for a one cent increase in the price of a quart of milk.

Milk now retails for 25 cents a quart in stores. Door step deliveries cost a cent more.

Alexander H. Lindsay, attorney for the association, cited milk production costs in a letter to the State Milk Control Commission. He asked that the entire increase be given to producers. If granted, he increase would be the second in less than six months.

The proposed one-cent increase will add about 46 1/2 cents per hundredweight to the $6.30 now paid by local dealers to producers.

The $6.30 figure was set when the last price hike went into effect on Aug. 1. Lindsay termed that boost "inadequate." He said Philadelphia area producers get 14 cents more per hundredweight.

By Warren Voiture, 40 and 8

Past Grand Cheminot Richard Hansen was the installing officer for Voiture Locale 94, Warren County 40 and 8, at the regular promenade held at the American Legion Home, Wednesday night, when the following new officers were installed for the 1952-53 term:

Robert W. Newman, chief de gare; Floyd W. Ahlquist, chef de terin; William F. Johnson, correspondent; Stanley Korb, commissaire intendant; Harold A. Johnson, conductor; Robert Hunzinger, aumonier; Gabriel Chimenti, gard de la porte; Cyrus Siegfried, lampiste; Ralph Brasington, chemist.

During the business session, the television set purchased for Warren State Hospital and the 1953 automobile show were discussed.

Ralph Brasington, retiring chef de gare, was complimented for a fine record of achievement during the past year. The auto show was very successful and the Voiture's membership for the previous year was exceeded.

A number of voyageurs from the local Voiture will be guests in Jamestown next Wednesday night at a dinner to be given by the 40 and 8 in that city.

The next promenade of the local Voiture will be held Wednesday, October 1.

Some wool fabric manufacturers here think the first sales at Sydney showed a firm enough tendency for the American mills to set prices for next spring's women's wear lines at about the same level as last spring. The lines formally open around the middle of this month.

Others contend it is too early yet to tell how the Australian auctions are going. American buying in Sydney has been very sketchy so far. Most of the wool offered has been of a quality not sought here.

Many fabric makers, therefore, are holding up the pricing of spring lines, even though many of them have enough wool already bought at the old price. The way the price goes in Sydney will still have its effect, they say.

Australian wool prices started out higher on the opening day, Monday, then slipped, and are now reported about the same as when the auctions there closed in June.

Japanese bidding has been a feature this week. And American textile men see this as another indication that the Japanese textile industry is going to be increasingly a competitive feature in world trade.

The Japanese are expected to take about 500,000 bales this season, or 25 per cent more than last year.

This step-up by the Japanese has some American textile men wondering. The world wool picture is far from strong. Argentina has large quantities unsold. Wool mills here and abroad have shown little interest in buying.

Americans are wondering if they or the British are going to be the losers if Japan takes over more of the world market.

"BALLOTS BATTALION"

One of the highlights of the 30th anniversary banquet of the Warren Kiwanis Club at the Marconi Outing Club last evening, in addition to the presentation of a number of deserving awards, was the stress placed on the speaker, Governor Daniel Auchenchbach, Johnstown, on the project undertaken by Kiwanis International called "Ballots Battalion." This is a program intended to arouse citizens generally not only to the importance of registering but in getting out to vote on election day. Mr. Auchenchbach devoted much of his speech to arguments as to why it is essential that every citizen eligible exercise his right of franchise this fall, and Kiwanians are mapping plans to have an important part in such an activity during the next two months.

Warren Kiwanians are richly deserving of the high praise heaped upon the club by the various visiting speakers last evening and we are happy to join in congratulations extended on the important occasion . . . its 30th anniversary!

SAFETY . . . GOOD INVESTMENT

With the re-opening of the school year, reminds the Bradford Era, many youngsters are experiencing for the first time in their young lives the excitement of school days. Many of them are walking to school, crossing streets and thoroughfares.

Patrol boys are ready to guide them safely across at intersections near schools and policemen are on duty at certain hours at other busy crossings. But the presence of these safety forces does not relieve motorists of the great responsibility of being alert and careful.

Drivers should remember to observe speed limits in school areas, heed the patrol boys, and watch for children along the streets at school hours. In those sections where school buses operate, motorists will want to get back in the habit of stopping when they are supposed to stop.

Parents, too, can help preserve the lives of their school-going youngsters by reminding them not to dart out into the street from between cars but rather to cross at crosswalks when traffic permits.

The life of a child is a great investment in the future. We all want to do our utmost to protect it.

TAKE TIME TO SHAVE WELL

It seems we take time for most everything, except to shave in comfort, Murray Kushell, who is director of a shaving blade "research institute," declares that "by the time the average man reaches 65, he will have spent about eight months of his life shaving."

"So why not do it right?" he asks.

For the 42 million Americans who shave every day, he offers the following advice:

Don't try to shave too fast. Take an extra five minutes for the job.

Be sure you're awake—not just standing up before you start.

Avoid going over the same area too many times. Wash your face thoroughly with soap and hot water before starting to shave.

Apply a hot-as-you-can-stand-it washcloth after you've washed your face—just like the barber does. Lather beard well and allow the lather to stand for a couple of minutes. Re-lather to keep moist.

Use short strokes, a minimum of 150. An oblique stroke is better than straight up and down.

When you are finished, rinse off your face with warm water, then apply a hot washcloth for a minute. Then splash your face with some after-shave lotion.

"ABC" FOR YOUNGSTERS

Always Be Careful!

That is the slogan parents will be passing on to their children this week with the opening of a new school term.

The ABC for the youngsters is: Always obey traffic signals and look both ways before crossing the street or road; be certain to play in safe areas away from traffic; be certain to follow the directions of the Safety Patrol boys and girls and policemen at all crossings in school vicinities, and finally cross only at corners or at marked cross walks.

Motorists are asked to cooperate by driving slowly and carefully when in school zones.

'Doesn't Anybody Love Us, Daddy?'

Here And There

Last evening's delightful Kiwanis Club anniversary club party at the Marconi Outing Club recalls an item that appeared in the Evening Times of August 30, 1902, about plans for constructing a club house there, which incidentally was later burned down and replaced by the present commodious structure. The article follows:

The attention of the Outing Club members was called last evening to the preliminary plans for the proposed new clubhouse to be built this fall at the grounds of the club.

The plans call for a commodious structure, and on that will meet for a long time the requirements of the organization, that has so rapidly developed into one of the leading social institutions of the city.

The building is to be 55 feet wide and 132 feet long, with long, wide verandas about three sides of the building, on the first floor and with spacious balconies opening from the rooms in the second story.

On the ground floor will be located the dancing pavilion, which will be 40 x 80; large dining rooms, kitchen, and pantry will also be on this floor, while upstairs connected by a broad staircase, will be the large billiard and smoking rooms, parlors, directors' room, private office, women's parlor, locker rooms and ample bath and toilet accommodations.

The executive committee announced at the meeting last night that suggestions or criticisms from members would be gratefully received but requested that they be put into writing. It is expected that the working plans will be adopted in a short time and the contract awarded, it being the purpose to complete the clubhouse in time for the winter season.

When this building is in use the present structure will be converted into a bowling alley. The club grounds are in a splendid condition and many improvements have been made this year that add much to the natural beauty and convenience of the sightly spot.

It is now reasonably sure that when the new street railroad bridge is built across the Allegheny at Gladerun a spur will be constructed into the Outing Club grounds, and with a direct street car service the last disagreeable feature connected with the journey will be eliminated.

The membership of the club is at present about 250 and the daily attendance of members at the grounds as well as at the weekly functions demonstrates the continued and substantial interest taken in this flourishing and prosperous club.

Kiwanis Klub Kapers: Just a few observations jotted down during the 30th anniversary banquet and program at the Marconi Outing Club last evening. . . . We think the women who supervised the preparing and serving of the meal deserve special mention, along with Web Schrist and his committee, who as usual had charge of the barbecued chicken detail. . . . During the evening we received a belated report that Mrs. Robert Schorman (11 East Third avenue) well known as a successful follower of Izaak Walton, one time this summer while fishing at Chautauque Lake caught a muskie 50 inches long weighing 27 pounds. . . . George King, a member of the Buffalo club, was introduced at the anniversary dinner of Warren Kiwanis last evening as a member who usually attends three meetings a week. . . . Dr. J. T. Valone made the preliminary introduction for the Warren Boy Choir at the Kiwanis meeting last evening at the Marconi Outing Club but it remained for his son "Jim" (making his last appearance with the choir because he is leaving Sunday for college) to present the boys and handle the remainder of the program in real professional style. . . . Governor Daniel L. Auchenchbach, who made the principal address at the Kiwanis dinner, was shackled for a time last evening, until the president's committee relented and opened the padlocks. . . . Many were disappointed that the Bradford club, one of the three sponsored by Warren since it was organized thirty years ago, was not represented at the anniversary dinner. . . . Bill Forsythe, one of the members of the Kane Kazooks band that played several numbers during the evening for the Kiwanians, was elected a trustee for five years of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association at the annual state convention of that organization in Erie last week. . . . Deserved recognition for long and always successful service in helping the club raise money for its underprivileged children's fund was given Joe Gardner last evening when the Kiwanians presented him with an honorary membership.

Reborn Eisenhower 'Arrived' By Traveling Middle Road

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The inside word from General Eisenhower's strategy board is that their man has finally found himself. Up until about Aug. 15, they weren't too sure he was going to click. His advisers were beginning to feel terribly sorry for him.

He was harassed from all sides and confused by all the conflicting advice he was getting, by all the new things he had to learn. He was being born all over again as an adult in a new world he didn't know existed.

There is no one incident which is said to mark the turning point for General Eisenhower to indicate when he began to find himself.

But along about the time he discovered that Social Security was here to stay, that "peace" was the big issue and that he would follow a "middle-of-the-road" course, his original backers again took hope.

MAIN battlegrounds of the 1952 presidential campaign are the states which were won or lost in 1948 by a margin of 5 per cent or less of the total vote. There are 24 of these 5 per cent states. The Republicans won 14 of them and the Democrats 10.

Switches in these states might mean the difference between victory and defeat for this year's candidates.

This is the way they line up, with their 1952 electoral votes and the percentages by which they were won in 1948:

WON BY REPUBLICANS			WON BY DEMOCRATS
Electoral Votes	Percentage		Electoral Votes	Percentage
3—New Hampshire	52.4		25—Ohio	49.2
8—Connecticut	50.1		27—Illinois	49.6
45—New York	46.3		12—Wisconsin	46.8
32—Pennsylvania	51.3		10—Iowa	48.0
16—New Jersey	51.1		3—Wyoming	47.4
3—Delaware	50.3		6—Colorado	46.7
9—Maryland	49.9		4—Idaho	47.5
20—Michigan	49.7		4—Utah	45.0
13—Indiana	50.1		3—Nevada	47.2
4—North Dakota	62.5		32—California	47.4
4—South Dakota	51.8
6—Nebraska	54.2		126 TOTAL
8—Kansas	54.3
6—Oregon	50.3
177 TOTAL

WHAT this table shows is that a switch of from one to six votes out of every 100 would throw these states into the opposite column. In 1948 the Republicans carried the states in the left-hand column plus only Maine and Vermont, which they won by over a 5 per cent margin, for a total of 189 electoral votes. This year those states would give them only 186 votes, due to changed apportionment.

This year the Republicans will have to carry all the states they won in 1948 and win 80 more electoral votes in order to get the 266 electoral votes necessary for victory. Winning Ohio, Illinois and California for a total of 84 electoral votes would do it.

From the Democratic point of view, the battle for electoral college votes is a lot simpler. In the 13 Democratic states of the solid South, there are 146 electoral votes. Then there are another 14 states with 143 electoral votes that have voted Democratic ever since 1932.

These 27 states alone give the Democrats 289 electoral votes, or a margin of 23 more than they need for victory in November.

30th Anniversary of Kiwanis Observed With Dinner

roduced, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Summerson.

Sam Lucas, past district governor, called upon, congratulated the club on its anniversary, and praised the committee for a fine party. He presented Awards of Merit to two 25-year members, A. Newton McCausland and R. Pierson Eaton, and a 30-year Legion of Honor to A. E. Johnson. Attention was called to the fact Mr. Johnson was having a birthday, and the president's committee called upon "a suppressed desire" long in the mind of the member, by hanging a Lion's club banner behind him.

President Betts, after announcing that the directors had voted Joe Gardner an honorary member of the club, praised him for his untiring efforts in behalf of Kiwanis and presented him with a lapel emblem in recognition of his new honor.

Lieut. Governor Norman, called upon to introduce Governor Auchenchbach, congratulated the club, explaining that he was certain that "Warren is a much better place in which to live," because of the presence of a Kiwanis club in the community the last thirty years. He said he joined with the other twelve clubs in District One in bringing greetings.

Governor Auchenchbach praised the Warren club and welcomed members from the New York district. Bringing greetings and congratulations, he lauded the club for its interest and help to the Boy Choir, saying "Music is an international language we all can understand." He said when the Warren club was formed in 1922, it was the 44th in Kiwanis International. Now there are 193 clubs with a total membership of 11,500. He commended the club for doing a grand job in the community and urged members to "keep it up." Recipients of awards during the evening were also recipients of praise, after which the speaker launched into a thought-provoking address on the objectives developed by Kiwanis International under the general slogan "Liberty—Let's Keep It!" He explained briefly the "Ballot Battalion" project, and urged the Warren club to do its part, not only to encourage people to register but to see that they get out and vote on election day.

Governor Auchenchbach concluded by entertaining with a number of novelty numbers on the piano to the intense pleasure of the audience.

Visitors in addition to those already mentioned, included: From Kane: Mr. and Mrs. J. Grandinette; Mr. and Mrs. J. Gai-bo, Mr. and Mrs. E. Segee, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jaffrey, Mr. and Mrs. E. ### UNANIMOUS DECISION

Cleveland (AP)—Johnny Red De Fazio furnished the momentum to keep the fight going, but Del Flanagan won the decision last night after 10 rounds.

De Fazio, 151 pounds and from Bayonne, N. J., carried the fight to his lighter opponent steadily until the seventh round. Although he frequently landed a good left to Flanagan's body, the St. Paul puncher outboxed him handily.

And in the seventh, the 146-pound winner clipped De Fazio over the left eye with a stiff right. That opened a cut and from then on Flanagan was in control.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington (AP)—There is a kind of American self-torture involved in looking for a way out of national emergency strikes.

This presidential campaign isn't likely to provide a solution. Gov. Stevenson seemed to make that clear in his Labor Day speech.

He said that Taft-Hartley Act should be entirely replaced by a new labor law. He raised the question of handling national emergency strikes.

He offered several suggestions but frankly said he didn't have the answer. It's a question which makes organized labor, management and politicians unhappy. Congress has never provided the answer.

Traditionally, an employer has been free to refuse to meet the demands of a union. At the same time the union is free to strike until he does.

That freedom for both sides was recognized by Congress even in passing the Taft-Hartley Act with its many restrictions on unions and management.

When there is a threat of a strike which might hurt the national welfare, T-H provides for delaying but not, in the end, preventing it.

Congress could do this: It could pass a law forbidding a strike in an industry affecting the national welfare and let it go at that.

That would penalize the union only. Deprived of its ancient right to strike it would have to continue working for an employer who, knowing his workers couldn't walk out, could take his own good time on a settlement.

This would be so obviously one-sided that, if Congress tried this remedy, organized labor could hardly sit by. In the end, and for fairness, Congress would have to pass a law penalizing an employer in such a case, too.

How? probably by compulsory arbitration. Which means that once a union was forbidden to strike, an employer would lose his right to take his time settling with the union; the government would step in and dictate the terms of settlement which both sides would have to accept.

Pastor and Family Reach Sugar Grove From Far Off Malaya

Sugar Grove—The Rev. and Mrs. Carlton Foss, who have spent the past five years in missionary endeavor in Malaya, have returned, with their three children, and are visiting Mrs. Eliza Mix, Mrs. Roy Briggs, and others in the community. Rev. Foss served as pastor of Sugar Grove and Lottsville churches before going to Malaya and their youngest son, aged three, was born in that country.

Chandlers Valley and Sugar Grove members of The Around the Corner Birthday Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Foulkrod, the hostess making the decorated birthday cake to honor Mrs. Wendell Hornstrom. Following the delicious buffet luncheon, members exchanged "secret sister" gifts and Mrs. Hornstrom was presented lovely birthday gifts. Gerilyn and Louise Mathews were guests. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Al Morando in September, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Cecil Kennedy.

Thella Scudder and Mrs. Mabel Dallas of Jamestown, with Pearl Thomas, Josephine Ricker, Mrs. Kennie Weisbrodt and Mrs. Harriett Northrop, spent Friday in Erie, helping to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Verdabell Greene. The hostess served a picnic lunch in her garden and her friends presented her with a birthday gift.

Mrs. Walter Dale and daughter, Doris, and Mrs. J. G. Clark and son, Denny, spent Thursday with Mrs. Glenn Ruhlman.

Dorothy Pittcock, Pittsburgh, was a recent guest of Flossie Broughton.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ruhlman and son, Robert, spent Sunday at Saegertown, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Currie and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Storms and family, Friendship, N. Y., spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Storms.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Armstrong have returned from a vacation trip, through the New England states.

Police Tips On Guarding Your Children

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
Education Writer

Many worried parents are recognizing the danger to their children from adults with twisted minds who select children as their victims. Many of them have asked "How can we warn our children in advance against the approaches of such people?"

A 31-page pamphlet just published by Murray and Gee of Culver City, California, may be one answer. "Playtime with Patty and Wilbur" is written by Captain Hugh C. McDonald, of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, a recognized authority on this subject. It is in language designed to be understood by tots when read to them by their parents.

Captain McDonald suggests that "the best results may be attained if the book is read to the youngsters during the evening, when the family is enjoying a little time together. For full effectiveness a story should be read each evening. After reading it, Mom or dad can interpret it to best meet the problem with their own children. For effective results, these stories should be read over and over again.

There are four stories in this little book, each pointing up a lesson. The first, "Patty Plays in the Park," is about two little girls playing in a park who meet a "nice" stranger who invites them to go to the store for some ice cream and candy. Patty refuses, but the other little girl does and is seen no more.

The second story, "Patty Visits Her Friend," shows Patty playing house in her daddy's garage. Suddenly, "Fuss Fetchet, the old man who lived several houses down the street from where Patty lived," walked into the garage. Patty had known him for a long time, as did her parents, so when he invited her to his garage to play with some pretty china doll dishes, she did not hesitate to go. When Fuss began to act strangely Patty ran out of the garage and home to tell her parents. They make her promise never to go away with any one, even if they looked like a friend without first asking her mamma and daddy.

In similar vein, "Patty Goes to the Movies" with a friend only to find a stranger sitting down next to them, offering them some popcorn and pawing them at the same time. Patty and her friend tell the theater manager and the man is arrested.

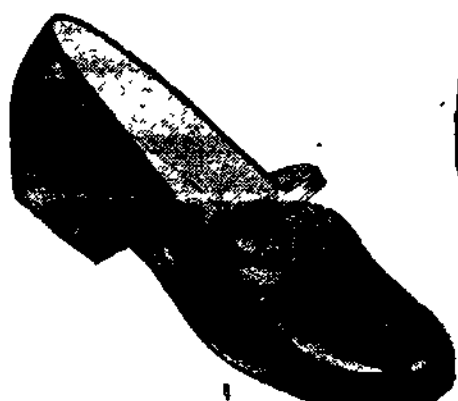

In the final story, "Patty Forgets and Takes A Ride," she is on her way home from school loaded down with her schoolbooks when a nice looking creature drives up in a fine car and offers her a ride. Patty forgot everything her parents have told her and accepts. But, instead of driving her home the creature driving the car swiftly drove off in another direction. He wouldn't let her go despite all her pleading and crying. Patty had made her one mistake, but she remembered something else her mother had told her and when she saw a policeman, she cried out for help and was saved.

Your youngsters will want to hear these stories again and again, identifying themselves with Patty and her friends. Families with small children should welcome them for their realistic lessons on how to avoid or cope with deviate personalities.

New Model Auto Is Destroyed by Blaze

Warren and North Warren firemen were unable to prevent the destruction of a 1952 Super 500 Buick automobile late yesterday afternoon other than the vehicle was on East Fifth avenue at the city line. The car, valued at $3,000, was owned by the Annex garage, local Buick agency, and was being demonstrated to prospective purchasers.

Warren firemen said that the car for their services came at 9 p. m. and that they responded with the emergency truck also calling North Warren. The departments used booster on the blaze, but fresh under-lying on the car was burning fiercely by the time they arrived that salvage was impossible. The car, brand new, showed only miles on the speedometer when it was destroyed. Officials of the Annex Garage said this morning that the loss is covered by insurance.

A Youngsville Scout and a Warren Scout have registered for the third National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America at Santa Ana, California next summer.

This will be a once-in-a-lifetime experience for these young fellows who will join with 50,000 others from all over these United States.

A huge tent-city will rise on the 3,000 acre site loaned to the Boy Scouts by the owners of Irvine Ranch in Orange County, Calif., on the shores of the Pacific Ocean.

Many Activities Are Discussed By Auxiliary

Ludlow—there were 34 members in attendance for the monthly meeting of the Wildcat Park Auxiliary, held in DeForest pavilion at the park and entertained by Mrs. John Fox, Jr., Mrs. William Hanson and Mrs. Adolph Johnson.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Albert Carlson, whose resignation from that post was accepted by the group with considerable regret.

Appointed as a nominating committee were Mrs. Enoch Nelson, Mrs. Lawrence Olson and Mrs. Emil Nelson. Mrs. Carlson expressed her appreciation to all who had helped and worked so willingly on picnics this summer. A report was made of the new floodlight placed in DeForest pavilion, also of the wiring of the Evans Shelter House. The telephone committee reported on the cost of installation and upkeep of a coinbox telephone. Mrs. Wales Connelly, treasurer, showed a balance of more than $1,000 in the treasury.

Plans were discussed at length for the annual tureen supper to be held this month, when each member will be asked to bring a tureen and white elephant gift, the hostesses to serve dessert, rolls and coffee.

To conclude the meeting, refreshments were served in late evening from an attractively decorated table.

Every Member Get A New One Is Goal Of Players Club

Henry O. Walker, president of Warren Players Club for the 1952-53 season, mailed out this week letters of greeting, membership applications and return envelopes to those persons who were members of the organization in the very successful year which concluded in May.

Charter members and other old timers in the Players were unanimous in their opinion that the 1951-52 season was the most outstanding in the 22 consecutive years of Players' operation.

However, "Hank" and his board of directors, with the aid of other active members, are pointing up plans to surpass all previous efforts in the months which are just ahead. It is also expected that the membership of next year, almost 800, will be surpassed, owing to the excellent programs presented in that period. Every member is being asked to get at least one new member for the current season.

The presentations will get off to a good start on October 16-17, when "Lo and Behold," three-act comedy by John Pastrick, will be presented to the public in the Woman's Club auditorium.

Evelyn Donnelly, who will direct this entertaining comedy, will be remembered for her very successful "Two Blind Mice," directed in 1951-52. She will have as her assistant, Dorothy Irvine, long-time member of the club. Tryouts are to be held this evening and tomorrow night, seven until nine o'clock, in the Woman's Club auditorium for the initial offering.

Bea Trax has consented to serve as program chairman, taking over the duties of Myrna Hoagvall, who, with her husband, Everett, will be making her home for the present in the south. Players Club members are hoping their southern residence will be only temporary, since both are long and valued members of the organization. Mr. Walker expects to call a full-scale meeting of his board within a few days to discuss further club activities.

Hawaiian Party Is Successful Climax In Club Activities

Conewango Valley Country Club members are rapidly exhausting their stock of superlatives following a most successful series of summer social affairs climaxed with the Hawaiian Night held over the holiday weekend.

Each of the special parties this summer has been greeted with increasing enthusiasm. But the 150 persons in attendance Saturday night acclaimed it "one of the nicest in years."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Voigt had as their committee members Mary Bianchi, Jane MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stein, the group leaving nothing undone to provide the proper island setting and atmosphere.

As guests arrived, young ladies in native costume greeted them on the veranda and garlanded each with a colorful lei. Hawaiian music came from every corner of the clubhouse and the unusual decorative scheme made use of tropical fish, palm trees and cocoanuts painted with faces. Tables were centered with flower-heads massed around the candles to create great splashes of color.

Musio for dancing was by Van Tassel's combo, with an added treat in the person of Gerry Johnson of Cleveland and Dick Smith, playing informally with accordion and violin on the club porch.

Next affair on the schedule, getting the fall and winter season off to a good start, will be the "Incongruous Party" on October 4, with the Phil Pritchards to make early announcement of their plans.

Many Activities To Occupy Auxiliary In Coming Months

The regular meeting of Dinsmoor-Schwing Auxiliary was held in the VFW post rooms, with a nice attendance of officers and members.

A report was given of the picnic held at Crescent Park on August 26, a very enjoyable affair, with all partaking of a delicious six o'clock luncheon. It was also reported a donation of $70 has been made to the Brookville Memorial Home, a gift that will be greatly appreciated by its ladies.

Elizabeth English, senior vice president of the unit, was elected a delegate to the department conference to be held at the Penn-Harris Hotel in Harrisburg on October 11-12.

Beatrice McCann, past president of the auxiliary, has been advised by the department chief of staff that she has been appointed deputy chief of staff of the Department Auxiliary.

Attention was also called to a magazine sale which is being conducted by the auxiliary.

Another report concerned a surprise visit made to the home of Garnet Stewart, Hemlock street, who is recuperating from a knee operation. She was presented with a gift from the auxiliary and a Sunshine Box containing gifts from all in attendance. The members enjoyed their visit with her, wishing her a speedy recovery, and, later in the evening, served refreshments.

It was announced the series of games parties which have been held Saturday evenings in the post rooms will be changed to Mondays hereafter, effective September 8. President Bessie Sullivan expressed her appreciation to all who have been attending these functions and the hope that all would continue to come on the new game night. Members enjoyed having the chaplain, Sadie Lucie, back after a long illness.

At the conclusion of the business session, a short skit was presented by Marie Belton, Mabel Vesling, Ethel Dunn and Blanche Lyle, and refreshments were served by Elizabeth English, Alice Bean, Millie Jaynes and Kate Lingo.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

EARLY FIGURING
WILL HELP GAME

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

In some hands it's very difficult to figure out where you are going to be when you have done your early work. Will you be in the dummy or in your own hand? How many trumps will you have left? And so on.

South should have asked himself these questions before he went too far with the "obvious" line of play. As it was, he woke up to find that he had dropped the contract out of the window.

West opened the king of hearts and continued the suit when East signaled enthusiastically with the ten of hearts. East won the third heart trick and returned a trump. South winning with the eight.

Without thinking too carefully, South cashed the ace of clubs, ruffed a club in dummy, and ruffed a low diamond to return to his hand. He then ruffed another club in dummy, but had to ruff a diamond with the queen of spades to get back.

When he next ruffed at West's last club with dummy's last trump, South had only two trumps left in his hand. He could get out of dummy only by ruffing a diamond, and this was bound to set up a trump trick for East.

If South had counted on his fingers and his ties to see how many trumps he would use up in the process of ruffing clubs in the dummy and diamonds in his own hand, he would have seen that his plan would not work unless the clubs broke 4-3, and the trumps also broke 2-2. The odds were about 3 to 1 against such luck.

A far simpler plan was available to make the contract. South should have won the trump return in dummy at trick four, in order to lead the king of diamonds. If East boldly ducked, South would let the king of diamonds ride.

There was a 50 per cent chance that East held the ace of diamonds in which case this play would develop declarer 10th trick.

Having obtained a diamond trick, South could continue with the crossruff, and would easily win the rest of the tricks. To put it another way, he would win five trumps in his own hand, three trumps in the dummy, the ace of clubs, and one diamond trick.

Prices of Top Grade Eggs, Beef Roasts, Chops Reported Little Lower This Week

By The Associated Press
Prices of top grade eggs, beef chuck roasts, some pork cuts and a handful of fresh vegetables were a little lower this week in many retail food stores.

Eggs dropped as much as 4 cents a dozen in some places as receipts of the medium and small sizes increased. Dealers said, however, that prices were still high in relation to recently-reduced wholesale quotations, however, and more price cutting in stores could be expected.

Otherwise, food price changes were too small and irregular to make much difference to the family food budget. Most of the reductions in meat prices were specials to attract customers, and did not reflect changing trends in the market.

Careful shopping promised to turn up some bargains in meats, however. A spot check in some major cities showed specials like this being offered: A reduction of 26 cents a pound on sirloin and porterhouse steak, 16 cents a pound for beef rib roasts, 10 cents a pound for frying chickens.

On the produce counters, most types of squash were lower and selling at close to break-even levels for handlers, according to Agriculture Department sources. Growers in some sections were reported dumping squash.

The sweet potato season was getting under way in a rush and prices fell sharply. White potatoes were lower, too. Rains over the weekend kept corn huskers out of the fields in some sections and then when corn began flooding the market again prices eased. The rains lowered the quality of snap beans and cauliflower in many areas, too, undermining their prices.

Slightly higher were lima beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, eggplants, lettuce, onions and peppers. Peaches, pears, plums and prunes were reported to be the best buys in fruits this week, along with Thompson seedless grapes which the Agriculture Department called a most-plentiful food for thrifty shoppers. Cantaloupes were a little higher in most places, honeydews a little lower.

Customer Potentiality May Restrict the Steel Industry

New York. —The steel industry hopes within a month or so to breaking all records of production. But it has some doubts as to how long it can keep that up and customers.

It has some other heads as today, too:

Earnings of 23 iron and steel companies for the first half year 43 per cent behind the first six months of 1951. And the third quarter doesn't look too good; either because the mills were struck in July and at the end of August still aren't back to capacity.

September may see them boom, but that's only one month out there, when the mills figure up data.

The $2.50 a ton average price the mills might count on to set the profit picture is off, steel executives assert, by her payroll expenses. Some mills claim the steel price is more than offset, because of material and service costs rise for them too.

And many of the steel mills' customers are grumbling. They're there's a good deal to what retails of Commerce Sawyer's: Manufacturers may not be able to pass much of that extra cost along in higher prices and product. Competition and customer price resistance may prevent it.

The trade weekly, Iron Age, puts a steel customer's plight this way today: "Washington has raised a manufacturer's costs and is crowding because he can do nothing about it."

Steel makers have their order books well filled. They are currently concentrating on catching up with the backlog of demand for defense production.

But a new element of doubt is creeping in, because customers aren't too pressing.

Before the strike steel executives were predicting that demand would slacken in the closing months of this year and output fall below capacity.

With the mills closed down in June and July, and production still below capacity in August, this time-table for the end of capacity output might be put back until the first part of next year.

But orders for civilian use steel —while good—haven't been nearly as urgent since the strike ended, as some mills had predicted. And steel executives once more are wondering:

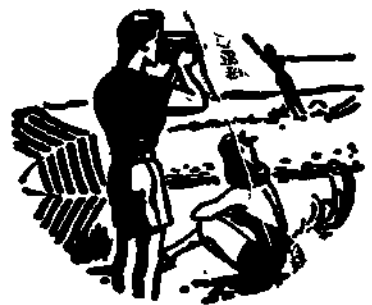

1. Will demand for steel slacken before we thought?

2. Will the new higher price cool off some of that demand?

The areas of volcanic activity are most prominent where continent and ocean meet, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Services will be held in the Garland Methodist church next Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Tuesday, we received an interesting letter from Nellie Wentworth, Salem, Ore., former resident of Cole Hill, stating she spent her summer vacation with the Hoefers near Albany, Ore. Mrs. Hoefer is a sister of Mrs. Harold McConnell, Torpedo. Miss Wentworth arrived there while the Hoefers were harvesting their string-bean crop. They started to pick beans July 28 and in three weeks had picked 250 tons for the cannery. Last year they picked the same amount in five weeks. No. 1 beans sell to the cannery for $300 a ton. No. 2 beans, or large ones, for $75. Pickers receive two and three-fourths cents a pound. Miss Wentworth says the steel strike had threatened the canneries but now they seem to have enough beans.

Skin Grafted From Twin Aids Ford City Soldier

San Antonio, Tex. (P)—Pfc. Leo Kijowski left for home today after skin grafted from his twin brother's body enabled him to walk again.

The 24-year-old Army veteran of Korea left with his twin, Leonard, from Kelly Air Force Base to fly to their home in Ford City, Pa. Their return trip ended the story that began when Leo was severely burned over more than 40 per cent of his body in an explosion of an enemy white phosphorus shell on the Korean front lines last Oct. 7. After emergency treatment in Korea and Japan, he was sent to Brooke Army Hospital here for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wolfe and daughters, Janet and Louis, Washington, Pa., were visitors in this section last week. Mr. Wolfe is a Union Sunday School missionary in Washington county. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe are both former residents of this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin attended the Meadville Fair Labor Day.

SEVEN-ALARM BLAZE IN PITTSBURGH AREA

Pittsburgh (P)—Firemen still fought a stubborn seven-alarm blaze today more than 10 hours after it broke out at the Beinhauer Mortuary in nearby Dormont.

Smoke overcame at least a dozen firemen. Nine others were injured. Deputy Fire Chief Stephen Adley estimated the damage over $100,000.

Firemen with masks made four attempts to penetrate the heavy smoke before they were able to remove the bodies of five deceased persons awaiting funerals. None was burned.

The blaze broke out last night about 9 p. m. in the basement display room. The mortuary is one of the largest in the Pittsburgh district.

Steel, Chrysler, Woolworth, United Aircraft, and Du Pont. Lower were Pennsylvania Railroad, Allied Chemical, General Motors, Sear Roebuck, and International Harvester. Corporate bonds were mixed.

Ilse Is Reported Writing Pretty Bad Poems in Prison

By DON DOANE

Frankfurt, Germany (P)—Ilse Koch, the "Red Witch of Buchenwald," is writing poetry in Aichach Prison while serving her life sentence for cruelties to concentration camp prisoners.

It's pretty bad poetry, on the basis of a sample published in today's issue of the German weekly news magazine, Der Spiegel.

And its theme of "evening peace" and "crickets singing" sounds off, coming from the red-haired woman whose previous artistic expression included making lamp shades from the skin of slaughtered prisoners.

Frau Koch recently wrote her mother that she was convinced, after eight years in prison, she is gifted with poetic power.

According to this letter, poetry is taking the place of religious services in helping Frau Koch

"steel my soul" against life in prison.

She was convicted of repeated cruelties at Buchenwald concentration camp where her husband was commander until the Nazis executed him for alleged embezzlement.

Two years after his death, Frau Koch bore a prison-conceived son, her third child.

Here is a translation of part of Frau Koch's poem which Der Spiegel printed:

The darkness of the forest Offsets the light-hued corn. Back from the mountain echoes The sound of forest horn.

He who on peaceful thoughts His mind can ever keep Will find his worries vanish In calm and hopeful sleep.

Business Index For July Shows Decline

State College (P)—The index of Pennsylvania industrial activity dropped a single point during July from the June level, a state-wide survey showed today.

The Pennsylvania State College Bureau of Business Research put the July index at 188, which was a drop of 26 points from July, 1951.

The index is based on coal production, industrial power sales and employee hours in manufacturing with activity during 1935-39 representing 100.

Bituminous coal dropped a new low for July while "anthracite had one of the worst production records for any month," the bureau reported.

New July records also were recorded by bank debits, building contracts, sales of ordinary life insurance, postal receipts and telephones.

Federal, State and Local Collectors Plan to Take Even More Taxes Than Ever

By SAM DAWSON
New York P.—Back from the last of the summer trips full of vim and eagerness to make a lot of money?

Federal, state and local tax collectors hope so.

They plan to take even more from you this year in taxes—direct and hidden—than ever. They hope you make lots of money—some for you and some for them.

The Census Bureau estimates 1952 federal, state and local taxes at $60 billion dollars.

But the National Industrial Conference Board thinks that figure is too low. It estimates today that in the fiscal year that ended June 30 the federal, state and local tax take came to a record $64 billion dollars.

This would be 16 billion more than in the previous year and 25 per cent higher than in the fiscal year that closed as the Korean War was starting.

The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, looking only at the federal government's tax bite, says that in the last seven fiscal years from the end of World War II until the present the total tax burden was $68 billion dollars.

This was $6 billion dollars more than in the entire previous history of the country. However, it fell short by 17 billion of meeting federal expenditures.

Where does the money go? Well, the greater part of the federal take goes for defense and for paying for past wars.

Federal, state and local government expenditures are now running at a total annual rate of 74½ billion dollars, the Department of Commerce estimates.

The U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau thinks its total tax collections this year from all sources, including Social Security contributions, should run 10 billion dollars more than last fiscal year when it took in $55 billion.

The National Industrial Conference Board tries to find just how this tax load is distributed among the citizenry—and runs into trouble.

"Averaging taxes, like averaging apples and oranges," it confesses, "necessarily involves gliding over many differences."

Taxpayers with the same gross income may wind up with quite different tax bills.

"How much anyone pays depends not only upon his total income," the board says, "but also upon the components making up his income, where he lives, what he buys, the demands that family and other responsibilities make upon income, and many other variables."

"And," as a measure of the real load, taxes directly paid are of less economic and personal importance than taxes actually borne."

It is the search for these hidden taxes, and determining who finally pays them that the board thinks is most important.

Hidden taxes are such things as the property tax your landlord pays directly but that you actually pay as part of your rent unless he's going in the red. Or the taxes that a manufacturer pays directly but that you actually pay as part of the price his product costs you unless he's losing money.

These taxes are hidden, because people don't see them and thus many don't realize they are paying them.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

GREEN COUNTY, Wis.—If you're planning a feast for Labor Day, then take a broad hint from Mrs. Elsie Gerber. She lives down the country road from Monroe in a white farm house and serves DINNERS—staggering dinners based on traditional recipes she learned from her grandmother, Verena Spain, who came to Green County from her native Switzerland in 1887.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Kubly (he is of Swiss descent and also vice president of the Lakeshore-Marty Cheese Co. in Monroe) insisted no one can appreciate Wisconsin without a dinner at Mrs. Gerber's. So they took us. It was a colossal experience.

On the table, waiting, were (besides the vase of red and white flowers) sliced cucumbers in sour cream, kalbwiurst (tender veal sausage), hot "risen" rolls and stacks of country butter, a glass dish of whole strawberry preserves, wilted salad with chopped crisp bacon, sweet pickles, a platter of green pepper rings, radishes, sliced sweet onion, and green and ripe olives.

Also on dish piled high with Swiss pear bread, made of dried pears, apples, peaches, raisins, nut meats, anise, brown sugar and bread dough.

Now for dinner were platters of fried chicken, more fried chicken than I had ever before seen in one place, bowls of gravy, fortresses of mashed potatoes, bowls of creamed spinach with nutmeg and chopped egg yolk, more bowls with fresh cauliflower in a rich cream sauce speckled with diced carrots and a dish of homemade Swedish noodles.

Then the hospitable Kublys and I stood on the little porch looking across the road to the big, red barn against the rolling Wisconsin hills, where those gentle-looking Swiss brown cows enjoy the. We were simply catching our breath for the desserts that followed.

There was a great, round wooden tray with a mound of green and blue grapes piled in the center on grape leaves. Surrounding it were wedges of ripe Camembert cheese and Wisconsin blue.

Next, in came a wicker basket of Swiss cookies—still warm and irresistible with cinnamon, brown sugar, nut meats, prunes and other fruits. Coffee and more coffee.

Then the big event—plate-sized concoctions that looked like German pancakes but weren't pancakes at all. They were a Swiss treat, crumbly, light, tender, thin egg-batter cakes that had been miraculously French-fried and rushed to us hot. The Swiss eat them with powdered sugar and whipped cream.

A fat, full moon lighted us home through the country. We all agreed that the moon looked as if it, too, had dined at Mrs. Gerber's that night.

SUNDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Blueberries, ready-to-eat cereal, bacon and eggs, ready-mix muffins, butter or margarine, jam, coffee, milk.

SWISS DINNER: Veal sausage, cucumbers in sour cream, sliced tomatoes and green pepper rings, strawberry jam, fried chicken, gravy, mashed potatoes, creamed spinach with nutmeg, cauliflower in carrot sauce, hot rolls, butter or margarine, wilted lettuce, Swedish cookies, fresh fruit and cheese tray, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Cold cuts, potato cakes, vegetable salad, heated rolls, butter or margarine, upside-down peach cake, tea, milk.

You Get GREATER VALUE for Your Dollar BECAUSE OF ADVERTISING

Because Advertising

... brings you news about better products you need
... tells you where to get what you want when you want it
... makes lower prices possible through mass production and mass selling

Yet picture how little all this costs

For instance, it costs less than 1/3¢ a dozen to advertise the big-name brand of oranges. Any other method of selling would cost the growers more and therefore raise the price. Otherwise they wouldn't use advertising.

FAMINE STRIKES IN INDIA—Apparently lost among the headlines about the political campaign, the cold war and the hot war, is the news that once again famine is taking its deadly toll in India. Commonplace are sights like that above—a woman lying in the street, dying of starvation, in the Uttar Pradesh Gorakhpur district. This is one of 11 districts in the famine area where crop failures have caused widespread misery and uncounted deaths.

Hobbyists' Mutual Admiration Pure Fiction; Envy Keeps Them From Liking Each Other

By HAL BOYLE
New York (AP)—Mankind, it is said into two classes:
1. Those with hobbies.
2. People who enjoy life.
This is fortunate for the peace of the world. For one of the ritual requirements of a man is a hobby is the existence of people who have no hobby their own and are therefore to admire him and his.
There is a legend that hobbyists are happy in each other's company because they share a mutual enthusiasm—be it collecting old cars or two-headed butterflies. But this is pure fiction. Because two men are married do they go to listen to each other talk out their wives? It is the same with hobbies. People with a same hobby bore each other to death. How can one stamp collector love another stamp collector if the second one has a stamp the first one doesn't?
They are not pals but mortal enemies, divided forever by pride and envy of possession. It is the same way with people who hoard first editions or matchbook covers or do needlepoint.
That is why folks who are ridden by a hobby horse need someone like me. My hobby is collecting people who have hobbies themselves, and I can recommend it to you. It works both ways. You give them the praise they yearn for, and in gratitude they reap whatever advantage their hobby has for you.
But a word of caution is in order. Don't collect any old hobbyists to admire. Limit your circle to friends whose hobbies can be of concrete benefit to you.
If you limit yourself to collecting only one kind of hobbyist, however, philanthropists are probably the best gamble. If you appreciate them long and hard enough, they may remember to appreciate you, too—in their will.

Spoil Everything?

To the Editor:
From down in Cali, Colombia, comes an Associated Press story about a bunch of prisoners in the Cali jail who "were getting wooey" on spiderwebs gathered from the ceiling of their cell.
"These they rolled in cigarette paper, lit them, and puffed themselves higher than the nearby Andes."
"No more spiders," said the police, ordering a quick clean-up.

What? No more spiders? What bluenosed Prohibitionists those Cali cops must be! What they should have done was to make those spiders pay a license fee for spinning their wooey webs. Then those webs would have been as harmless as this country's "legalized liquor." Those jailbirds would then all have soon been "men of distinction," the cops would be getting "revenue" off the spiders, and everything would be hoty-toty. See how Prohibitionists spoil everything? RAGS

FOR THE CHURCH BULLETIN

The State of Massachusetts found that for every dollar of liquor tax money collected, they had to spend $5 to care for the crime, damage, and illness caused by liquor. One dollar in, five dollars out. Los Angeles found it was 11 dollars out for each dollar in, and Pontiac, Mich. found they were out $14 for every dollar they took in. Who pays the difference?

Some of the Professionals Fearful Stevenson May Use Up His Ammunition Too Fast

Washington (AP)—Some of the professional Democratic politicians are reportedly worried that Gov. Stevenson may use up his ammunition too fast.
Their thinking seems to go like this:
If he spells out in detail his position on all the issues too early in the campaign, which opened yesterday, by the end of the campaign he'll sound like a scratched phonograph record: repeating himself.
But this seems to be a hazard he faces only if his ideas are so limited, and the issues so few, that all he has to say can be said in the first few weeks.
Running out of something to say is a fate which seldom overtakes a politician, and Gov. Stevenson has had some political experience. Since Gen. Eisenhower is so much better known than he is, Stevenson may feel it's necessary to start shooting with both barrels early to get attention.
He may also feel that since he's running for the presidency, he has an obligation to make his position clear and that's the only way he'd want to run.
Some of the people around Eisenhower have indicated that the general is pacing himself, that he evidence they haven't laid much on the line yet.

About the most definite thing either of them has said so far was Stevenson's Detroit speech yesterday. He daily suggested wiping out the Taft-Hartley Act and replacing it with a milder labor law.
This was the real campaign opener. Eisenhower gets under way today with speeches in the South.
WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?
In normal years, 300 factories in the United States turn out about 10,000,000 buttons annually, or about 70 for each man, woman and child in the country.
Nebraska has a water supply of more than 1,000,000,000 acre-feet annually.

Numerous Defense Projects Planned

Washington (AP)—The Defense Department announced that army projects costing many millions will be undertaken in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, and New York between now and next June 30.
They are part of a 166 million dollar military building program to be carried out by Army engineers at 85 bases in 31 states.
Maryland projects will cost an estimated $27,243,000. Those in New Jersey will cost an estimated $13,500,000; New York, $8,717,400; and Pennsylvania $6,580,000. A tentative list released by the department includes:
Pennsylvania—Letterkenny Ordnance Depot (Chambersburg) repair and wood working shop, $1,102,000; Marietta Transportation Corps Depot, warehouse, shop and office building, $2,725,000; Tobyhanna single depot, warehouses, utilities and railroad engine house, $2,753,000.

Thomas Coupling Wins First Game In Softball Play-offs As Hook Allows But One Hit

Versatile Phil Hook put on a one-man performance at the State Hospital Field last night, as Thomas Coupling walloped Guilfrie's Grocery, 10-2, in the opening contest of the best out of five series for the Industrial Softball League championship in Warren.

The sensational mound artist pitched one-hit ball for the second-half champs, fanned 12 men, and slammed out three safeties one of them a double.

Playing the last three innings of the game in poor light, most of the scoring was done earlier, except for a three-run rally staged by the victors in the final frame to make the win very decisive. Unfortunately arguments marred the game, causing it to drag out.

Both teams drew blood in the first inning, Thomas starting off with three tallies and Guilfrie's two, their only scoring. The potential champions came back with two more in both the second and fifth sections and then the final inning cinchers.

Bob Harrison was not up to par in performing his mound duty for Guilfrie's and did not receive the usual fine support from his teammates. He was taken for an even dozen hits, two of them triples by Gerry Littlefield and Anderson, and Hook's two-bagger. Bill Massa spoiled the no-hitter with a single.

The second game of the playoff series will take place at the West Side Field tomorrow evening starting at 6 o'clock.

Steelers May Trade Holdout Joe Geri To Chicago Cardinals

Olean, N. Y. (AP)—Speculation arose today in the training camp of the National Football League Pittsburgh Steelers that holdout halfback Joe Geri may be traded to the Chicago Cardinals.

A Steelers spokesman said that Geri and the Cards had been given permission to talk trade. There was no word from Geri but Cards coach Joe Kuharich declared, "there has been some mention of Geri in a deal."

Kuharich added, however, that "absolutely nothing has been done yet and may not be in the future."

The Steelers spokesman said he had been expecting word on the proposed deal but "nothing has developed yet, apparently."

Geri, a native of Phoenixville, Pa., had been a star of the Steelers the past several seasons. However, he hasn't reported to training camp this year.

Geri claims the Steelers wanted to cut his pay too drastically. He had been reported receiving in the neighborhood of $10,000 a year. Steelers officials didn't say what they offered him this season.

As we stopped briefly at a residence in Corry, a youngster came sliding down the banister, bringing to mind what happened one summer afternoon at the home of Commander and Mrs. Stuart Fletcher in Annapolis. The door bell sounded, and down the banister came Stu, Jr., landing inside the screen where waited the wives of two captains, coming to call.

"Stuart, aren't you getting a little old to do that?" asked one of them. "Well, Mommie does it!" replied the son and heir.

One of the most faithful workers in local American Legion circles, Bob Newman, has just been installed as chef de gare of the 40 and 8.

Through The Wind Tunnel

Signs of September: WBS students, in droves, dashing across Liberty street on Third avenue, against the red light, as brakes squeak and motorists gasp. A few minutes later, a repetition at Conewango and Fifth. At Conewango and McPherson, where a new light is in operation, a teacher was carefully shutting the younger students across the street in small groups.

Youngsville, a busy town on a Wednesday evening. Main street parked full.

And on to the beautiful little town of Findley Lake where we spent a happy evening with a friend of many years ago, Clarence "Cap" Hengst, who used to be boys' work secretary of the local YMCA, leaving here in 1924. Hengst is as vigorous and full of pep as ever. His vacation from his secretarial duties at Orange, N. J., only five days old, he has already caught three of his 1952 quota of muskies. Promises to visit in Warren before returning to work, would like to be here for the Lehigh testimonial dinner on October 11.

Playing with the Western Division were, besides those already mentioned, Lindgren, Carlson, Masca, Cummings, Bevevino, Natale, Martel, Morrison, Cassone, Gleason, Terry, and Gnage. Easteners were Baldensperger, Solock, Mong, Pring, White, Cretelli, Peterson, Larson and Gelotte.

Tonight at Jackson Field starting at 6 o'clock will be the Cadet League all-star game.

High School Grid Practices Shifted To the Afternoons

With yesterday's opening of school, the Warren High School football squad is now working out in the afternoons instead of the morning as previously.

Less than two weeks now remain before the Dragons make their 1952 debut at War Memorial Field against the Corry Beavers Sept. 13, and Coach Fred Bell and his staff of assistants are working hard.

Monday's intra Squad games brought out many of the bumps that need ironing out in the team, including the passing. The squad will be spending plenty of time on defense in the remaining pre-season practice session, not having touched on it too much in the first two weeks.

With the exception of veterans fullback Toby Shea and end Dick Hegerty, there is still no definite varsity lineup. Backs making a strong bid are Lance Mohney, Gene Morris, Jim Tridico, Don Mahaffey, Ed Heffernan, Tom Graziano and Wayne Hamm.

At the end there are Bill Hawthorne, Rod Morley and Dick Harnett evenging the position and Tom Larson, Steve Olson, Eugene Slack, Bob Dickerson and Gordie Albaugh the tackles. Guards working for starting berths are Dick Suppa, Stu Kornreich, Bob Townley, Del Sedon and Don Cummings. The center position seems to be a toss up between Bubba Johnson and Chuck Eaton.

Suddenly he laughed. He had only been half listening to her words, for he was suddenly aware that Sally was an uncommonly handsome woman and that there might be far worse things than an alliance with her.

"Why," he agreed sardonically, "now that you put it that way, it may be that you're right. I've been thinking of going into the Santa Fe trail, but I haven't had time to think of it. I might as well look for the treasure along the way. You're suggesting that we share it equally, of course?"

She studied him appraisingly, finding in his broad shoulders and reckless eyes the same vibrant throat and promise that had attracted her to Elaine Shepley. But it was far too soon for that.

"Equally? Well, we'll have to see about that. The question right now is whether or not you can find the treasure. I'm not sure of your money. You've never been over the trail, have you?"

He shook his head slowly. "All I know about the Santa Fe trail is that it goes through about eight hundred miles of country that God made and then forgot—and there's a town named Westport at the end—and a place called Santa Fe at the other. How about your map? Can you tell anything from that?"

Sally shrugged her white shoulders helplessly. "It doesn't tell me a lot," she admitted. "However, it does tell me that the trail is a long and hard one. It's a trail that has cost three men their lives. Here it is."

Clay unfolded it slowly and studied it carefully.

"Did Shepley and André tell you anything at all about where this spot was located?" he asked.

"A little," she said, "but only a very little. Blaine said it was between the Arkansas and the Cimarron, at a place they call the Jornada del Muerto."

She turned the map over, considering her information.

"The Jornada of the Dead," he translated. "Well, it has a likely sound, anyway. I'll inquire around a little and see what I can find out. In the meantime, I'd keep this out of sight until you can get a closer view of it."

She returned the map to her reticule and rose to her feet, straightening her skirt and her petticoats about her.

"It's all arranged then, isn't it?" she asked, smiling. "You are going to accompany me and view with me up very rich and famous the new lands on the frontier?"

He bowed meticulously over her outstretched hand and smiled back at her as he lifted his head.

"We will undoubtedly 'wind up' as you say, but whether we'll be rich and famous or not, I don't know."

YOU could hear Westport Land- ing before you could see it, for a low, dark, jagged line of hills around the wide bend of the Missouri the noise of men talking and shouting came floating across the water, occasionally and unexplainedly interspersed with strains of gay, half-barbaric music. ## WESTPORT LANDING

By Homer Hatten

Chapter 14

HER bland assumption of his co-operation was so certain that Clay stared at her in complete amazement before he could gather himself for a reply. Then he exploded.

"I've got a murder charge hanging over my head now, and you're suggesting that I go and look for a little job of grave-robbing."

"But that's just it," she interrupted. "You don't want that murder charge to come to rest on your shoulders right now, do you, But? It might—if you don't help me!"

"By God!" he said slowly. "I believe you mean that."

Should he think you'd be delighted, Mr. Bennett?" she said softly. "After all, isn't every fugitive with a rope around his neck who has a chance to share a fortune while he's running away?"

Suddenly he laughed. He had only been half listening to her words, for he was suddenly aware that Sally was an uncommonly handsome woman and that there might be far worse things than an alliance with her.

"Why," he agreed sardonically, "now that you put it that way, it may be that you're right. I've been thinking of going into the Santa Fe trail, but I haven't had time to think of it. I might as well look for the treasure along the way. You're suggesting that we share it equally, of course?"

She studied him appraisingly, finding in his broad shoulders and reckless eyes the same vibrant throat and promise that had attracted her to Elaine Shepley. But it was far too soon for that.

"Equally? Well, we'll have to see about that. The question right now is whether or not you can find the treasure. I'm not sure of your money. You've never been over the trail, have you?"

He shook his head slowly. "All I know about the Santa Fe trail is that it goes through about eight hundred miles of country that God made and then forgot—and there's a town named Westport at the end—and a place called Santa Fe at the other. How about your map? Can you tell anything from that?"

Sally shrugged her white shoulders helplessly. "It doesn't tell me a lot," she admitted. "However, it does tell me that the trail is a long and hard one. It's a trail that has cost three men their lives. Here it is."

Clay unfolded it slowly and studied it carefully.

"Did Shepley and André tell you anything at all about where this spot was located?" he asked.

"A little," she said, "but only a very little. Blaine said it was between the Arkansas and the Cimarron, at a place they call the Jornada del Muerto."

She turned the map over, considering her information.

"The Jornada of the Dead," he translated. "Well, it has a likely sound, anyway. I'll inquire around a little and see what I can find out. In the meantime, I'd keep this out of sight until you can get a closer view of it."

She returned the map to her reticule and rose to her feet, straightening her skirt and her petticoats about her.

"It's all arranged then, isn't it?" she asked, smiling. "You are going to accompany me and view with me up very rich and famous the new lands on the frontier?"

He bowed meticulously over her outstretched hand and smiled back at her as he lifted his head.

"We will undoubtedly 'wind up' as you say, but whether we'll be rich and famous or not, I don't know."

YOU could hear Westport Land- ing before you could see it, for a low, dark, jagged line of hills around the wide bend of the Missouri the noise of men talking and shouting came floating across the water, occasionally and unexplainedly interspersed with strains of gay, half-barbaric music. Clay and Sally were leaning against the rail, watching the dark brown water rush by on either side between the towering, heavily forested bluffs on the left and the flat river-bottom land on the right, which ran back to smooth-topped, rolling hills on the north.
